LYNGROVE RESERVE

SAUVIGNON BLANC / CHENIN BLANC 2025

The inspiration behind the Reserve range is to create wines that are fuller and more complex in style. The use of oak plays a subtle role in adding complexity. These wines are best enjoyed with food, but good fruit /wood balance means they will also not disappoint on their own.

ORIGIN: Stellenbosch

VARIETIES: 87% Sauvignon Blanc 13% Chenin Blanc

VINEYARD: Vines are drip-irrigated to ensure optimal ripening and trained on the 5-wire Perold trellis system. Planted in soils consisting of weathered granite on a clay base. The nearby Atlantic Ocean (False Bay) has an additional cooling effect on the vineyards during the ripening season.

GROWING SEASON AND HARVEST: The 2025 Stellenbosch growing season was exceptionally good with above average quality. A season characterized by sustained mild and dry conditions contributing to steady ripening with optimal fruit composition and minor fungal disease risk. This vintage offers expressive aromatic profiles suggesting wines with character and depth that will surely further develop and age well. Yields were only average.

VINIFICATION: The varietals were harvested on different days with the Sauvignon Blanc being early Feb and Chenin Blanc three weeks later. The grapes were gently pressed to avoid any harsh phenols. After settling, the juice was racked and fermented separately at cool temperatures and left on the lees to enhance depth of flavour and texture. The Sauvignon Blanc was kept fresh in tank while the Chenin Blanc went to fifth fill French oak barrels for development. After 9 months of maturation the wine was blended and stabilized before bottling commenced.

TASTING NOTES: This white blend shows freshness with hints of green pepper, passion fruit and pineapple. The palate is layered with soft tropical fruit, crisp apple, sweet melon and subtle nuances of oak.

SERVING: Enjoy at 10-12°C with Seared Scallops, crispy bacon, salsa, gremolata & rocket.
